8. 不知道怎么回答时

- Unfortunately, I cannot answer that question at the moment.
- I'm afraid I cannot give you an answer.
- Excuse me, I'm afraid time doesn't permit us to go into that subject.
- I'm afraid the question is too complicated to be answered with a few words.
- Sorry. I'm afraid I know little about that matter. So I don't think I can answer your question right now.
- I'd like to discuss it with you after the session.
- It is a good question and I have no answer at this moment. Can I have your e-mail so that I can email you my possible new findings later?
- I'm sorry. I still don't understand your question. Could I come back to you later? Could you please talk to me after the session?
- I cannot quite remember, I'll need to do a little checking and get back to you.
- I'm afraid it's a bit difficult for me to present some experimental data at the moment to support the theory since my idea is mainly out of theoretical consideration.
- I have had very little experience with this matter.
- I'm sorry my experience/knowledge about your question is very limited so I think I cannot give a good answer to your question.
- I'm afraid we don't have enough time to go into that now, but I'd be glad to send you some documents on that point.
- I'd be glad to talk to you during the break or at the end of the session.

9. 回答问题后的表示

- Does that answer your question?
- Is that OK?
- Is my explanation clear enough?
- I wonder whether my question is helpful to you.
- I hope this answers your questions.

- I don't know whether that is a satisfactory answer.
